Live Immersed in Language & Culture
In the field of language education, you often hear a familiar story. People recall travelling and exploring early in life. They attended exciting study abroad programs in high school and college; the sites were amazing and the cultures rich with history and tradition. In retrospect, however, the experience was often times disappointing. There was so much time spent speaking English with other American students in the program that their language skills didn't improve much at all.

Here is our advice. While you are young, make a commitment to be a traveler, not a tourist. The life benefits of language proficiency are extensive. In college applications, you can differentiate yourself as language-savvy and culturally versed. You can show colleges and universities, in the most real way possible, that you are dedicated to global citizenship and inter-cultural exchange.

And with true language proficiency, you can make a meaningful difference in the world. Whether working in international business or volunteering abroad, you will have the confidence and capability to cross cultural boundaries, meet people in the middle, and understand other world views.

Friendships made. Trust built. Potential realized. The world is diverse and the problems are deep.

Make a difference. Immerse yourself.
The Academy aims to create lifelong language learners through encouraging the development of exceptional world language skills early in life. To this end, the Academy offers a rigorous four week language immersion experience for 8th-12th grade students who are passionate about language proficiency and cultural understanding. Speaking in their chosen language 24/7 while engaging in meaningful cultural exploration projects, students make unrivaled strides in language acquisition in only four weeks. Through the Academy experience, students become linguistically proficient and culturally versed, gaining the language skills and global awareness to succeed in college and beyond.

Learn a Language.
Travel the World.
We aren’t going to lie to you, immersion is no walk in the park.

It’s challenging. Academy alumni will tell you that living in language 24/7, while making friends, eating meals and taking classes, is hard. But here’s the deal. It’s worth it. Not only will you make amazing strides in speaking your target language, but the Academy experience is personally transformative. We know because students and parents tell us, and we see it for ourselves. Here’s how one student described his living immersed in French for four weeks:

“If I were to recommend this camp to another person, I would not sugar coat it. This experience was very difficult for me. There were days when I just wanted to pack my bags and go home, but something kept me here and kept me speaking French and honoring the Language Pledge®. I am so lucky to have been able to be here, and now at the end, I think this is the most satisfied I’ve ever felt in my life. Although it was tough, it was worth it.”

Only you can decide if the challenge of the Academy is right for you. No matter your background or prior linguistic skills, every year we find that students who are passionate about languages and intrigued with cultural diversity are a great fit for this program. And just remember, the Academy experience is not a solo trek. You are not in this alone. Quite the contrary—the experience is deeply social. Part of the fun is being surrounded by so many friends who are also grabbing their pocket dictionaries, throwing words together, and getting a laugh.

“The people I made friends with this past month helped me get through my learning of Chinese. Respect and friendship are ever present. I was expecting not to make any friends at this camp, but I was extremely surprised by how much fun I had and how much I don’t want to leave.”

So give it some thought. We have no doubt that both college preparation and summer fun are on your mind. Camps, travel programs and sports leagues await. But here is the difference.

During the Academy, you gain a lifelong skill: language proficiency.
5 Reasons to Study at the Language Academy this Summer
1. Experience
Our Academy experience for 8th-12th grade students is the academic leader in world language instruction. We know that the best way to learn a language is through full immersion, and at the Academy, we take immersion seriously. Students and instructors take a Language Pledge®, developed by Middlebury College’s Language Schools, to only speak in the target language 24/7. We make every effort to minimize English language pollution. So leave your t-shirts with logos at home, and tell your friends you will be in touch (maybe in a new language).

2. Results
Whether an absolute beginner or advanced speaker, you will dramatically improve your language skills. A majority of our students leave the Academy with an increase in their language comprehension and speaking by one level. Give us four weeks, and you will gain more proficiency and confidence than you can imagine!

3. Role Models
Live and learn from people you admire. Don’t be surprised if your teachers and residential advisors have lived abroad in language. They know first-hand the struggles of becoming fluent and are dedicated to helping you learn in a fun and engaging way. When surveyed, our alumni often rave about the hands-on, enthusiastic and supportive mentorship at the Academy.

4. Cultural Exploration and Project-based Learning
We believe in learning language in a cultural context. This means that classroom language instruction in the morning is balanced with cultural activities in the afternoon that bring the language to life. Depending on your target language, you may be learning salsa or tai chi, following designated media outlets in language and producing a media clip, taking Chinese cooking classes or playing soccer against a rival language Academy.

5. Domestic and International Opportunities
At the Academy, you can decide where you learn best. Choose to focus on language learning on a Vermont college campus or in an international setting abroad. Not sure? We can help you decide the best setting for you.
